

THE HAMMOND ORGAN CO., 4200 W. DIVERSEY AVE., CHICAGO 39, ILLINOIS

No. 24

January and February, 1955

SINCE 1951 MORE THAN 1200 SELECTIONS OF MUSIC HAVE BEEN ESPECIALLY ARRANGED FOR THE CHORD ORGAN

A good yardstick for measuring the popularity and versatility of a musical instrument is the amount and variety of music published for it. The Chord Organ's popularity rates very high by this measurement. Since 1951 when the Chord Organ was first introduced to the public, more than 1200 selections of music have been issued by the leading publishers of the country. Included among these selections is music to appeal to everyone's taste—popular hit songs, semi-classical favorites, hymns, folk songs, and classical selections.

This quantity and variety of selections are providing almost endless hours of diversion for the Chord organist. But this is only the beginning of music published for the Chord Organ. Leading publishers are planning to expand their publication of Chord Organ music in the future.

IMPORTANT!

Here is the current listing of selections arranged alphabetically by the title of the album or selection. The publisher's name is given in parenthesis under the title. For addresses of publishers, refer to the listing on the back page. All music should be ordered from your music dealer or direct from the publisher.

Eighty-Seven Hymns for the Hammond Chord Organ

(Presser)

Still, Still with Thee
When Morning Gilds the Skies
Day Is Dying in the West
Now the Day Is Over
A Mighty Fortress Is Our God
All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name
Blest Be the Tie That Binds
Crown Him with Many Crowns
For the Beauty of the Earth
Holy, Holy, Holy! Lord God
Almighty!
I Love Thy Kingdom, Lord
Jesus Shall Reign Where'er the Sun
Jesus, the Very Thought of Thee
More Love to Thee, O Christ
My God, I Thank Thee
O God, Our Help in Ages Past
O Love That Will Not Let Me Go
Safely Through Another Week
Saviour, Again to Thy Dear Name
We Gather Together to Ask the Lord's Blessing
We May Not Climb the Heavenly
Steeps
Where Cross the Crowded Ways of Life
Bring a Torch, Jeannette, Isabella
God Rest You Merry, Gentlemen
Good King Wenceslas
I Saw Three Ships Come Sailing in
O Sanctissima
Ring Out the Old, Ring in the New
Beneath the Cross of Jesus
In the Cross of Christ I Glory
When I Survey the Wondrous Cross
Christ the Lord Is Risen Today
Be With Me, Lord, Where'er I Go
God of Our Fathers
Holy Ghost, With Light Divine
In the Hour of Trial
Jesus Calls Us
Jesus, Lover of My Soul
Jesus, Saviour, Pilot Me
Lead, Kindly Light
Now While We Sing Our Closing
Psalm
O Jesus, Thou Art Standing
O Master, Let Me Walk With Thee

$2.00

Saviour, When in Dust to Thee
Spirit of God, Descend Upon My Heart
Fight the Good Fight
Onward, Christian Soldiers
The Son of God Goes Forth to War
Stand Up, Stand Up for Jesus
Come, Ye Disconsolate
The Lord Is My Shepherd
Break Thou the Bread of Life
From Greenland's Icy Mountains
O Zion, Haste, Thy Mission High
Fulfilling
America, The Beautiful
The Battle Hymn of the Republic
Father, We Thank Thee for the Night
Fling Out the Banner
I Think When I Read That Sweet
Story
I Would Be True
Jesus Loves Me! This I Know
On Our Way Rejoicing
Rejoice, Ye Pure in Heart
This Is My Father's World
Blessed Assurance
The Church in the Wildwood
God Be With You Till We Meet
Again
He Leadeth Me
I Am Thine, O Lord
I Love to Tell the Story
I Need Thee Every Hour
Just As I Am, Without One Plea
Let the Lower Lights Be Burning
My Jesus, I Love Thee
Rescue the Perishing
Saviour, Like A Shepherd Lead Us
Saviour, Thy Dying Love
Shall We Gather at the River?
Softly and Tenderly
Sweet By and By
Sweet Hour of Prayer
Take the Name of Jesus With You
Take Time to Be Holy
There's a Wideness in God's Mercy
Work, for the Night Is Coming
Yield Not to Temptation
The Holy City

NEW CHORD ORGAN DEMONSTRATION RECORDING AMAZES OWNERS AT CHORD CLUB GATHERINGS

COLOR FILM-STRIP AVAILABLE FOR SHOWING TO SCHOOLS, LUNCHEON CLUBS, CHURCH GROUPS AND OTHER ORGANIZATIONS

A very interesting and colorful sound film-strip has been prepared around, "The Musical Kaleidoscope with the Hammond Chord Organ" for showings to audiences of all ages. Each selection is accompanied by a fascinating illustration as well as music.

The film will provide an entertaining luncheon or evening program for any club. Contact your local Hammond Organ dealer for full information and available dates.

ASK YOUR HAMMOND DEALER FOR A "KALEIDOSCOPE" DEMONSTRATION

This recording is not available for resale so please do not write the factory. Your local Hammond Organ dealer will be happy to receive any requests.

Chord Organ owners all over the country were intrigued last month when they heard Hammond's new demonstration recording, "A Musical Kaleidoscope with the Hammond Chord Organ".

The tremendous versatility and potential of the Chord have been beautifully presented in this recording which covers some of the best instrumental effects obtainable on the instrument. Even professional keyboard artists, whose sole impression of the Chord Organ has been its ease of playing facility, are absolutely amazed at the wide range and assortment of musical voices.

Forty-seven different effects are recorded on both sides of the long-playing (33 1/3) album. A few bars of each selection are played to demonstrate the particular instrumental or orchestral effects. Included in the group are:

- Orchestral Bells with organ accompaniment
- Cello solo with organ accompaniment
- A "Sophisticated" ocarina
- Flute and piano solo with organ accompaniment
- Orchestral woodwind and horn
- A violin solo
- A banjo solo
- A clarinet solo
- Woodwind jazz
- French horn in a symphony orchestra
- The flutes in the symphony orchestra
- Flute and xylophone solo
- Orchestral flutes and clavichord
- Bass horn solo

There are thirty-three other numbers, each illustrating a different tone quality. Tablet registrations and a description of each selection are printed on the back of the record jacket.

DEALER TV PROMOTION NETS CHORD ORGAN FOR THE ST. JOSEPH HOME FOR THE AGED

▲ Station NOKE-TV donated free time which resulted in getting a Chord Organ for the St. Joseph Home for the Aged.

Mr. Marvin Kovinke, seated at the Chord Organ, played for the TV broadcast. Standing (left to right) are Mrs. Frances Hamilton, Mrs. Annie Rimes, Sister Virgine, Father Martinez, Mr. J. Paul Hewitt, and former Governor Noe.

Hewitt, Inc. of Monroe, Louisiana conducted a promotion that accomplished two goals. It brought them sales and also made possible the donation of a Chord Organ to the St. Joseph Home for the Aged.

Mr. Noe, former Governor of Louisiana, donated free time on his television station NOKE-TV for a Chord Organ promotion. The announcement was made on television that for every person visiting Hewitt's store for a demonstration and mentioning the television show, $5.00 would be given to the St. Joseph Home for the payment of their Chord Organ. The promotion turned out to be a tremendous success. Two-hundred people visited the dealer and enough money was raised for the complete payment of the Chord Organ.

SEAFARING MEN PLAY CHORD ORGAN TO FILL LEISURE HOURS ABOARD SHIP

Captain Harold B. Ferris playing the Chord Organ aboard the S. S. Alameda, while "Aukland", his pet cocker spaniel listens intently.

Time weighs heavy upon the men who spend a good portion of their life at sea. Their diversions are limited being confined to the boundaries of the ship. Sailors thus necessarily turn to some form of diversion to spend their leisure hours.

Captain Harold B. Ferris, master of the S. S. Alameda, plays the Chord Organ for enjoyment while at sea. Since he hoisted it aboard several months ago, it has become the center of attraction for all of the passengers as well as for his own pleasure. Captain Ferris never had any previous musical training but is now able to play the more difficult selections of music and can run through a concerto in B flat like an expert.

"Aukland", his pet golden cocker spaniel was at first jealous of the captain's new interest. When Ferris first began playing the Chord Organ Aukland gave a "howl" of protest. Now that she has resigned herself to not getting all of the captain's attention, she has become a good listener and is often even lulled to sleep by the soft strains of organ music.

The officers of the United States Navy aboard the U. S. S. Bennington have a Chord Organ in the ship's wardroom. For those not familiar with navy jargon, the wardroom is the living quarters where meals and recreation are provided for the officers. The Chord Organ has become the feature attraction for the men who gather there. Familiar songs are played and sung as the officers get together during these "off" hours. You might hear some of your old favorites being played and sung there, but you can be sure that "Anchors Aweigh" will be included.

CHORD HEADLINES

GOVERNOR OF ARKANSAS, LAWYER, AND EXECUTIVE RELAX BY PLAYING THE HAMMOND CHORD ORGAN

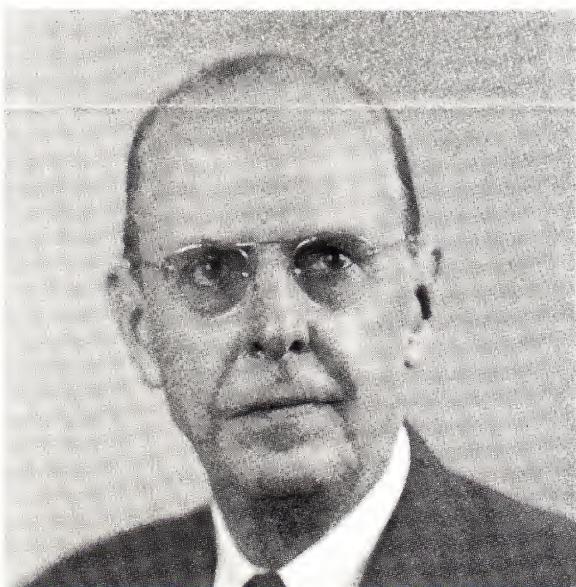

Governor Cherry of Arkansas and his wife getting instructions from Mr. J. K. Hamilton and Mr. Robert Hamilton of the Houck Music Company, Little Rock, Arkansas.

Everyone's work day is usually filled with a lot of activity and many problems to solve. A tremendous amount of nervous energy is required and built up during the course of a day to help us surmount our problems and handle all of the responsibilities of a full work schedule. As a result, after a hard work day is over, we not only feel tired, but our nerves are still tensed up and we find it difficult to relax. This is particularly true in the case of business and professional people.

Governor Cherry of Arkansas now has a Chord Organ in the Governor's Mansion which both he and his wife play for their enjoyment and relaxation. The Chord Organ was presented to him as a gift from the department heads of the State.

Mr. John Ewing Harris, a lawyer of Nashville, Tennessee, takes his Chord Organ in his station wagon wherever he goes. Since he is secretary to the Honorable J. Percy Priest, U. S. Representative from the 5th Congressional District of Tennessee, it is also necessary for him to maintain a residence in Washington. But whether it's Nashville or Washington, his Chord Organ is with him. Always having a great love of music, Mr. Harris was amazed when he first discovered that he could play his favorite music without taking an involved course of instruction. His Chord Organ playing has progressed to the stage where he is much in demand by his friends as a source of entertainment. On one occasion Harris even entertained 200 guests at a Washington party.

"I used to play the violin but it wasn't much fun playing alone," writes Mr. Ralph Mueller, owner of the Mueller Electric Company of Cleveland, Ohio. "Then I happened across a Chord Organ and in three minutes flat I was playing 'Silent Night'. What a series of scientific miracles involved in the Chord Organ! A lump of coal is fed to a boiler, which makes steam, which drives a turbine, which drives a generator, which goes over miles of copper lines to the organ, which sends forth beautiful music. A lump of coal is magically transformed to a great series of pleasing sound waves."

Mr. Ralph Mueller, Cleveland, Ohio

Mr. John Ewing Harris, Nashville, Tennessee

SUMMER OFFERS AN "INVITATION TO RELAXATION" FOR CHORD ORGAN FAMILIES AND THEIR FRIENDS

Now that those hot lazy summer months are here, we immediately look for some easy-going diversion when the pace has to be slower. The days are too hot for anything too active—but we still need entertainment that offers mental stimulation and relaxation at the same time.

What can be more inviting for relaxing entertainment than a Chord Organ set in an outdoor living room? Away from the warm stuffy rooms of the house, you can have (see picture at upper left) an ideal setting for music—sunlight, fresh air and perhaps a cool refreshing breeze.

The requirements for a carefree outdoor living room are very simple. It begins with a cement or stone base that can be swept clean of leaves, grass, and crumbs, and one on which you can turn the garden hose. Next requirement is light weight furniture that can take sunshine and rain. And that much is permanent. To add to this for daily enjoyment, you can bring on the beverages, the food, the music, books and magazines—even your house bird, or aquarium.

This perfect family setting is provided by Mr. and Mrs. Warren Klint and their children: (left to right) Dickie, Ronnie and Bonnie. The Klint family resides in Rockford, Illinois.

All five members in the family of George C. Nichols of Fort Lauderdale, Florida spend their leisure moments at the Chord Organ.

NEW MUSIC NEWS

"DIXIELAND FOR THE HAMMOND CHORD ORGAN"*

Here's a new folio that every Chord Organ owner ought to have—something entirely different which opens up a new potential for the Hammond Chord Organ. "DIXIELAND FOR THE HAMMOND CHORD ORGAN" contains 26 of the best known jazz selections of the swingy "Dixieland" type. Most of them are easy to play like "Mobile Blues", "Copenhagen", "Sobbin' Blues", and "Wolverine Blues". Others are full of red hot "shotgun rhythm" jazz of the Prohibition Era—like "The Sugar Foot Stomp", "Milenberg Joys", "Deep Henderson", and "Maple Leaf Rag". And there is "sweet" jazz—like "Melancholy", "Basin Street Blues", and "Tin Roof Blues". All the numbers are freely arranged in the characteristic Dixieland swing style—full of cute little "hot licks" woven in with the melody together with tricky "blue endings". You will also find that many of these "endings", etc. can be used in other pieces that you play in the same key. You will be thrilled at how wonderfully effective the Hammond Chord Organ is for playing jazz!

An outdoor living room has many advantages. It's there for you and you alone for those precious moments you find to relax. It's there for family pleasure and for gracious entertainment of guests. It makes summer housework lighter, too, because it catches the heavy traffic and the kitchen work.

The outdoor living room we've suggested in the picture gets a morning sweep with a broom brush, or a water rinse when necessary. Then it's ready for morning coffee with the paper, mid-morning iced beverage with a neighbor (and one for the hot, tired, mailman), and for lunch and dinner (cooked or carried out) with family and friends.

But indoors or outdoors during the summer months the Chord Organ will take its place as the center of family activity. Strains of organ music for dancing will instill the air for those informal parties on the patio, barbecues will be even more flavorful with the added spice of music, and indoor entertainment will be more colorful as the family and their friends play and sing at the Chord Organ. And the most amazing thing about these family activities centered around the Chord Organ is that everyone will be actively participating in creating their own entertainment. Here is an ideal means of bringing family and friends closer together—sharing a common interest and enjoying it at the same time.

"RHYTHM BLUES FOR HAMMOND CHORD ORGAN"*

Here is another album containing some of the nation's top recorded, radio, and juke box hits. The eight selections are all at the peak of their popularity and are skillfully arranged for effective but easy playing on the Hammond Chord Organ. (In playing this album, observe that the diminished chords are marked with a small circle rather than the usual minus sign. Thus, "C°" means "C—" and "3°" means "3—".)

CHORD ORGAN CONTRIBUTES TO MUSICAL EDUCATION OF STUDENTS AT CALIFORNIA ELEMENTARY SCHOOL

Mrs. Alberta Goodman, teacher of the third and fourth grades, uses the Chord Organ every day in her classes.

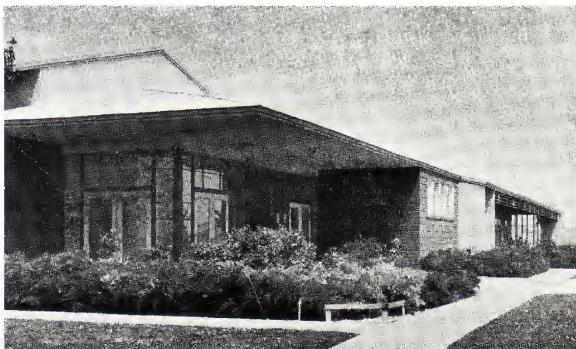

The principal, Mr. Willis J. Reed, takes a musical intermission at the Chord Organ.

The Hammond Chord Organ is kept busy at all times at the McKittrick Elementary School of Kern County, California.

An important advantage is offered to the teachers and students, because anyone can play the Chord Organ without having previous musical training. Many children who ordinarily would never know the satisfying experience of creating music, will try the Chord Organ because it is so easy to play. All of the teachers play the Chord Organ for their students in the classrooms, and even visitors to the school can't resist the temptation to try it. The school's principal, Mr. Willis J. Reed, spends his few relaxing moments at the Chord Organ, too, during those rare times when it is not being used.

The McKittrick Elementary School, not only provides for the educational needs of the children, but also serves as a center for the community's social activities. It enters into the daily living of the people of the community. The Chord Organ is used at most of these social activities held at the school. It is used in the P.T.A. programs, Boy Scout meetings, and even provides the music for community dances.

The architecture of the McKittrick Elementary School is a fine example of the modern trend in one-story school construction. The appearance doesn't resemble the ordinary conception of a school building. Instead, it looks more like a large rambling ranch home, with attractive landscaping and low construction, put in a beautiful setting. The school is more like a "second" home for the 75 students who attend there.

PLAYING TIPS

Chord Organ owners all over the country were thrilled when they heard Hammond's new demonstration recording, "A Musical Kaleidoscope with the Hammond Chord Organ". The tremendous versatility and potential of the Chord Organ are beautifully presented in this recording which includes some of the best instrumental effects obtainable on the instrument. Forty-seven different effects are recorded on both sides of this long-play album (available in 33-1/3 and 45 rpm). A few bars of each selection are played to demonstrate the particular instrument or orchestral effects.

Finally observe that the last note played is sounded an octave higher than written and also is made to sound without vibrato by adding both of the SOLO VIBRATO CANCEL stops. This simulates the difficult effect of playing a high "harmonic" on the violin in which the player merely touches his string. He, of course, cannot execute his vibrato when playing "harmonics".

One of the examples is Massenet's "Elegie" played with a violin solo effect. While listening to it, many critical listeners were amazed at the unexpected fidelity of a solo violin tone which is possible on the Hammond Chord Organ. There are, of course, many combinations of stops which produce string qualities. One of the best of these is:

SOLO VIOLIN TONES

on the

HAMMOND CHORD ORGAN

The violin solo is one of the tones demonstrated on the "Musical Kaleidoscope" recording

With the above combination the widest solo vibrato will be present to stimulate the violinist's vibrato as he shakes his hand on the string. Furthermore, the DEEP TONE and BRILLIANT stops produce both the low resonance of the body of the violin together with the very high tonal brilliance caused by the rosined bow, as it stretches and snaps the violin string into vibration. Also, the smooth attack (or tonal build-up) characteristic of the violinist's bowing is duplicated on the Chord Organ by playing each key in a slightly detached or "non-legato" manner. This key "touch response" is of the greatest importance and functions as follows: If one key is pressed before another key is released (legato), the pitch of the tone instantaneously shifts. This style of playing is preferred for fast moving passages. If, however, a very slight but imperceptible pause is made between playing keys (raising the hand slightly between notes), each note will sound with a smooth and (non-legato) gradual tonal build-up. This latter technique is preferred for playing slow-moving melodies in the violin style.

Massenet's "Elegie" is found on pages 2 and 3 of your CLASSICAL MUSIC FOR THE HAMMOND CHORD ORGAN album. Note that in simulating the effect of the violin, the organist has made frequent shifts to the octave. This shifting style is a much used part of the professional violinist's technique.

AMATEUR HAMMOND CHORD ORGANISTS ENTERTAIN AT RESTAURANTS, DANCES, PARTIES AND WEDDINGS

Thelma E. Peirce plays her Hammond Chord Organ at Kauai Inn in Hawaii.

Entertaining at the Beta Sigma Phi Sorority party at Marshall, Michigan is Bruce O'Leary, a fireman — Chord organist.

People who never studied music before are surprising themselves and their friends with their playing ability on the Hammond Chord Organ. Some organists have progressed to such an extent that they are now playing professionally to supplement their regular income.

Thelma Peirce, a physical therapist at the Wilcox Hospital, Lihue, Kauai, Hawaii, is a Chord Organ owner who plays professionally. She entertains the guests on her Chord Organ during the dinner hour at the Kauai Inn.

A fireman at Marshall, Michigan, Bruce O'Leary's leisure time is very much in demand. Everyone around Marshall is acquainted with O'Leary's ability as Chord Organist, because he has entertained at many weddings, dances, dinner parties, picnics, and county fairs. When he has an engagement to play, O'Leary and his wife, Doris, merely load the Chord Organ in the back seat of the car and off they go. While on duty at the firehouse, O'Leary has his Chord Organ by his side. Between fires and false alarms, he has a lot of time to practice new numbers.

One Chord Organ owner is getting an early start in playing professionally. Only twelve years old, Bobby Collins, has the responsibility of maintaining his pet Welsh pony, Black Beauty. To feed and care for his pony and save enough money for a horse, Bobby plays his Chord Organ at receptions and parties around East Braintree, Massachusetts.

PLAYING TIPS

As explained in your "First Half Hour Instruction" booklet, one of the easiest yet most beautiful styles of playing the Hammond Chord Organ is to employ a smoothly sustained accompaniment by continuously pressing down the Chord Bar and Left Pedal while smoothly progressing from one Chord Button to another. With the sustained accompaniment thus provided, the element of rhythm is conveyed chiefly by the melodic movement. However, there are many melodies which, of themselves, do not supply the required amount of rhythm. Examples of the latter are waltzes, fox-trots, and particularly Latin American tunes. For melodies of this class, the Pedals and Chord Bar may be played in a "pattern" to add a wide variety of charming rhythmic accompaniments.

Example 13 of the "Musical Kaleidoscope with the Hammond Chord Organ" recording clearly illustrates a Chord

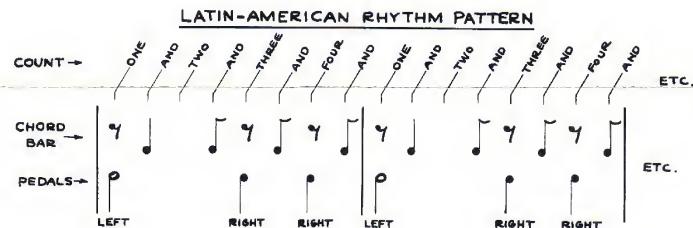

LATIN AMERICAN RHYTHMS on the HAMMOND CHORD ORGAN

The Latin American Rhythm is demonstrated on the "Musical Kaleidoscope" recording

Bar and Pedal pattern which is especially applicable to Latin American melodies. The tune is the well-known "Carey Carmela" and is contained in "Music for the Hammond Chord Organ Vol. 4 — Latin American Collection" published by the Ethel Smith Music Corp. A suggested combination of stops for this selection is:

As you listen to this excerpt, you will hear the Left Pedal played on the first beat of each measure. The Right Pedal is played on the third and fourth beats of each measure. However, the first beat pedal note is longer than those of the third and fourth beats. The Chord Bar is pressed on the second half of every beat with the bar held somewhat longer for the second half of the first beat. Using the usual musical notation:

NOTE: Before learning to play the above pattern it is recommended that you learn to play the simpler Pedal and Chord Bar patterns contained on the last pages of your "Second Half Hour Instruction" booklet. Then proceed with the above using various Chord Buttons only. DON'T ADD THE RIGHT HAND UNTIL YOU HAVE LEARNED TO PLAY THE PATTERN SO WELL THAT YOU CAN CARRY ON A RUNNING CONVERSATION WITH SOMEONE WHILE PLAYING IT. When practicing, use the "Pedal Fast Decay" and "Sustain Cancel" stops.

HAMMOND CHORD ORGAN OWNERS OF ALL OCCUPATIONS GET FUN AND RELAXATION FROM CREATING MUSIC

Mrs. Jane W. Swartz, an accountant of Worland, Wyoming, finds playing the Chord Organ relaxing after a day of routine office work.

Thousands of owners are surprising themselves by being able to play their own music on the Hammond Chord Organ. They are surprised because they never played a musical instrument before, never could read music, or never thought that they had any musical talent. As soon as they started playing the Chord Organ they discovered an absorbing new interest which is at the time a source of relaxation.

People, whether they are a housewife, a teacher, doctor, laborer, or a business man — all have a certain amount of pressure on them during their working day. After a day's work they are often tensed up and tired and need something to relax them. Music is a marvelous means of relaxing and resting the nerves, and this is particularly true in playing a musical instrument. But before the advent of the Chord Organ, the source of relaxation in playing a musical instrument was denied to many people who never studied music. The average person busily occupied in raising a family or earning a living, can find no time to take the lessons necessary to play a musical instrument.

The Chord Organ is offering the complete answer to busy people who need relaxation and an interest outside of their work. Robert Range of Elgin, Illinois, for example, is a Chord Organ owner who drives large semi-trailers in the highly congested areas of Chicago. The arduous nature of his work requires that he has some form of relaxation after a

PLAYING IN DUET STYLE

Many people who have heard the recording, A MUSICAL KALEIDOSCOPE WITH THE HAMMOND CHORD ORGAN, wonder how it is possible for a single player to produce the amazing multi-voice orchestral effects heard in Example No. 20 ("Softly And Tenderly").

The answer lies in the fact that the recording organist was playing in a duet style on the keyboard — that is, he was pressing down two keys simultaneously. Furthermore, he was employing stops in both the "Organ" and "Solo" Divisions. Under these conditions, the keyboard of the Hammond Chord Organ functions in a very unusual and wonderful manner.

To fully comprehend what happens, one must first understand that there are two completely independent tone generating systems brought into operation whenever a key is pressed. These two systems operate on entirely different principles. One system is called the "Organ Division" and is controlled by the "Flutes" and "Strings" stops. The other is the "Solo Division" and is controlled by the thirteen solo stops to the right. When two keys are held down simultaneously, the Organ Division will sound both of them, but the Solo Division will sound only the highest key. Thus, the highest (or melody) key is always tonally differentiated and emphasized with respect to the lower key.

Many marvellously interesting duet style possibilities are thus opened up in which the higher melody key sounds in interesting tonal contrast with the lower counter-melody key. For example, in the "Softly And Tenderly" recording, the Solo Division was registered to sound in the bass range:

hard day of fighting the traffic. The Chord Organ has filled this need perfectly. Every night he spends some time at the Chord Organ for relaxation. His playing has advanced to the extent that he already played for a radio broadcast over station WRMN at Elgin.

Another Chord Organ owner, Mrs. Jane W. Swartz of Worland, Wyoming, finds that the close work she does as an accountant leaves her in a tense and nervous condition at the end of the day. She writes, "I find it so relaxing to sit down at the organ for a period of time then."

A business man of Atlanta, Georgia, John C. Stedman, has turned playing the Chord Organ into a profitable hobby as well. He has been playing the Chord Organ professionally for the past three years as a member of a combo.

Mrs. Scott Wilson, a Chord Organ owner of New Orleans, Louisiana, is chairman of the Volunteer Advisory Committee at the Charity Hospital. Her present assignment doing research on brain waves is a fascinating one. But she remarks that after a day spent at the hospital all the tension disappears when she plays her Chord Organ.

These are just a few examples of the many thousands of owners who have found in playing the Chord Organ a welcome relief from their everyday problems. At the same time they are experiencing for the first time the thrill that comes from creating their own music.

Here you heard the higher melody key actually sounding lower in pitch than the lower countermelody key. This was because the "Bass" stop caused the Solo Division to sound an octave lower than the Organ Division. The resulting duet effect of two separate and distinct orchestral instruments is startlingly real and pleasant to hear. The player of the Hammond Chord Organ is accomplishing with but one hand and keyboard that which would usually require two hands and two keyboards!

IMPORTANT! When playing in duet style, be careful to always hold down the higher melody keys in a smooth and sustained manner. In other words, don't release one melody key until you have pressed the next one. Should you inadvertently release a higher melody note while still holding down a lower countermelody key, you will hear your solo tone temporarily play down to the countermelody which, of course, is not desired. This may sound a bit complicated but in actual practice all that you need to remember is: WHEN PLAYING DUET STYLE DON'T RELEASE A HIGH MELODY KEY UNTIL YOU HAVE PRESSED THE NEXT ONE. It's all right to play the lower countermelody keys in a detached manner, but not the higher melody keys.

For a good duet-style arrangement of "Softly And Tenderly" see page 43 of the recently issued Hammond Chord Organ folio, EIGHTY-SEVEN HYMNS FOR THE HAMMOND CHORD ORGAN, published by the Theodore Presser Co., Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania. Note that this score specifies that all notes be played up one octave.

"COLLEGE SONGS for the HAMMOND CHORD ORGAN"*

In keeping with the season of football and the return to school, a new album containing 31 of the best known college songs has just been published. The name of the album is "College Songs for the Hammond Chord Organ" and is published by the Melrose Music Corporation, 35 West 51st Street, New York, N. Y. Each selection is especially arranged for the Hammond Chord Organ. Included are the stirring favorites of the "Big Ten" and "Ivy" colleges as well as other leading universities in all sections of the country. Also included are the famous fraternity songs, "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi" and "White Star of Sigma Nu." This album beautifully brings into focus the Chord Organ's inherent effectiveness in playing marches.

"College Songs for the Hammond Chord Organ" is a splendid album for learning to play 4/4 rhythms using the Pedals and Chord Bar. In general, you will note that most of the marches are registered using the "Pedal Fast Decay" stop with the "Solo Balancer" advanced. The Pedals should be played in a detached staccato manner on the first, second and fourth beats. To be effective, marches must be played with a steady beat. They can be played quite slowly and still retain their natural vigor.

A great many of the selections in this folio are scored with strong countermelodies. You may find it easier, at the start, to play only the higher note which is the main melody. The countermelody can be added later. The final result of melody lead, countermelody, harmony background, and rhythm chords and bass is little short of miraculous when one considers that it all comes from a single instrument and player. CONTENTS:

"BVC SONG HITS for the HAMMOND CHORD ORGAN"*

A fine new folio, BVC SONG HITS FOR THE HAMMOND CHORD ORGAN, has just been placed on the market. We unhesitatingly recommend that every Chord Organ owner secure a copy of this splendid folio and enjoy many hours of musical relaxation to the finest in popular and orchestral music. Not only does it contain a very extensive list of popular "standards" by great American composers such as Walter Donaldson, Harry Warren and Rube Bloom, but also outstanding instrumental works such as Dave Rose's "HOLIDAY FOR STRINGS" and "OUR WALTZ". Then too, there are present day hits such as "IT'S A SIN TO TELL A LIE", "OUTSIDE OF HEAVEN", and "LOVE ME OR LEAVE ME". The popular schottische "SCATTER-BRAIN" is also contained as are the musical favorites from many of the leading 20th Century Fox motion pictures. All of the numbers are wonderfully effective on the Chord Organ, and most of them are easy to play. Incidentally, "WHEN A GYPSY MAKES HIS VIOLIN

CRY" is an excellent number for demonstrating the amazingly beautiful "double-stop" violin effects possible on the Hammond Chord Organ. CONTENTS:

Instrumental Favorites: Holiday For Strings, Our Waltz; Walter Donaldson Song Successes: Love Me Or Leave Me, Little White Lies, Makin' Whoopee, You're Driving Me Crazy, My Baby Just Cares For Me, My Mom; Popular Standard Song Successes: It's A Sin To Tell A Lie, Outside Of Heaven, Winter Wonderland, Little Sir Echo, When A Gypsy Makes His Violin Cry, Scatter-Brain, Fools Rush In, Serenade In Blue, I Can't Begin To Tell You, I'd Love to Live In Loveland, My Heart Tells Me, Darn That Dream, And The Angels Sing, The More I See You, You'll Never Know, I Had The Craziest Dream, Patricia, On The Boardwalk (In Atlantic City).

HAMMOND CHORD ORGAN PROVIDES MUSIC FOR SERVICES OF MANY SMALL CHURCHES

Mildred May (seated at organ) and Ada Duhigg (standing) play the Hammond Chord Organ for all chapel services at the Highland Bay Community House in Bingham Canyon, Utah.

The organ is universally accepted as the traditional musical instrument for the church.

But there are many small churches without the funds necessary for the purchase of an organ. They are therefore deprived of the kind of music which will give a more reverent atmosphere to their worship services.

The Hammond Chord Organ is filling the musical requirements of numerous small churches. Small churches, many of which are just getting organized, have found that the Hammond Chord Organ is the ideal musical instrument for their needs. Its low cost is within the limited budget of small churches. And because it is so easy to play, no expense of a trained organist is required.

At the same time the Hammond Chord Organ is used for all of the social functions of the church. Light weight and occupying a very small amount of space, it is easily moved to the church basement or social room for a meeting of the young people's group, ladies aid society, men's club, Church banquets, and Boy Scouts.

The dinners take on added flavor with community singing, accompanied by organ music. Remarkable thing about the Chord Organ is that anyone can play it for entertainment at any church social event.

Whether it's the Sunday morning worship service or some social event at these small churches, you'll hear the reverent music of the Hammond Chord Organ.

PLAYING TIPS

HOW TO ADD THE VIOLINIST'S "CRY" TO YOUR HAMMOND CHORD ORGAN MUSIC

Many people who have listened intently to the recording, A MUSICAL KALEIDOSCOPE WITH THE HAMMOND CHORD ORGAN, have simply marvelled at the expressive smoothness of the melody notes heard in Example 31 ("Songs My Mother Taught Me"). Many remark how the melody notes seem to possess an extraordinary and poignant appeal like the "cry" of the violinist as he plays a gypsy air. Others, who are trained musicians, exclaim, "I just don't see how it is possible on a keyboard instrument! I can hear the organist playing chromatic transitions between the melody notes, but there are no "clash" effects from playing adjacent keys at the same time. The melody notes are rich and full-bodied—yet the chromatic transitions are softly refined and miraculously devoid of "clash". It sounds like magic to me!"

Before continuing any further, let it be said that the violinist's "cry" is nothing more than a quick little "slide" in pitch between two melody notes. For example, if the melody moves from "C" to "G", the violinist will (almost unconsciously) "slide" in pitch to about "D" and then make a jump the rest of the way to the final "G". These "slides", of course, are not actually written on the music sheet but are interspersed into the music wherever they are deemed to be effective. Like salt and pepper, if they are used sparingly, they can be very effective and artistic. If the violinist uses too many "slides" the general effect may become overly sentimental.

Before the advent of the Hammond Chord Organ, organ "slides" were considered somewhat in poor taste. Some of the movie theater organists of by-gone years used them, but, in general, their effectiveness was impaired through the fact that it was practically impossible to play a chromatic run without having two or more adjacent keys down at the same instant. The result was a clashing which was louder than the melody notes themselves. With the Hammond Chord Organ the situation is entirely different. When two adjacent keys are simultaneously played on this remarkable new instrument, the lower key is always weaker than the higher because the tone from the Solo Division sounds only on the highest key pressed. Therefore, the lower cannot clash with the higher. As one plays a legato chromatic scale there is an exquisite absence of clash and unwanted loudness. Try it yourself and see!

HOW TO ADD TRANSITIONS — Adding transitions is something that anyone can do without having to study musical theory. First of all, remember to play transitions very rapidly and just before the new note. In other words, wait with the transition until it's "almost time" to play the next note.

If the interval between two melody notes is a third or less (for example, "E" down to "C"), the usual transition may be a chromatic scale (that is, play all notes between the "E" and "C" melody notes). If the interval is greater than a third, the transition takes the form of two consecutive notes in the direction of the next melody note followed by a "jump" for the remainder of the interval. For example, the transition from "A" down to "E" would be "G#" followed by "G" followed by a jump to the final "E".

The example below shows exactly what the recording organist did by way of adding transitions in the "Songs My Mother Taught Me" example:

DECCA'S NEW ALBUM, "BEAUTIFUL DREAMER"

FEATURES JESSE CRAWFORD AT CHORD ORGAN

Decca Records just released a new album called "Beautiful Dreamer", featuring the incomparable playing of Jesse Crawford at the Hammond Chord Organ. The popular response to Crawford's first recording of Chord Organ music, "Popular Encores", was so tremendous that Decca Records saw the need of offering this second album.

"Beautiful Dreamer", as the title implies, is a record album offering the old dreamy favorites. They are the kind of songs that really put you into the dreamy reminiscent mood. Jesse's playing of "Beautiful Dreamer", "Sleepy Lagoon", or "Sweet and Low" give you a sort of relaxed contented feeling, as you listen to the beautiful strains of the Chord Organ music.

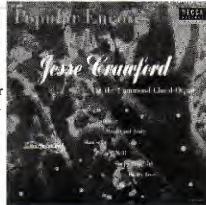

Chord Organ owners will be delighted with Crawford's arrangements of these old favorites. Again the Chord Organ's versatility of tone and almost endless possibilities for arranging is beautifully demonstrated in this album:

Selections include:

Beautiful Dreamer	Swingin' down the Lane
My Blue Heaven	Londonderry Air
Sleepy Lagoon	In a Little Spanish Town
Carry Me Back to Old Virginny	Sweet and Low
All the Things You Are	From the Land of the Sky Blue Water
Song of India	I'll Take You Home Again, Kathleen

Selections included in "Popular Encores"

June Night	Peggy O'Neil
Charmaine	Sleepy Time Gal
Honest and Truly	Be My Love
Mam'selle	Vilma

You may purchase "Beautiful Dreamer" or "Popular Encore" from your local music dealer. Both albums are available in 33 1/3 r.p.m. recordings. For further information write to Decca Records, 50 West 57th Street, New York 19, N. Y.

THE HAMMOND ORGAN CO., 4200 W. DIVERSEY AVE., CHICAGO 39, ILLINOIS

No. 32

NOVEMBER 1955

Age didn't deter Dr. J. W. Young, Sr. of Sweetwater, Texas to begin a new hobby. At the age of 75 he now plays the Chord Organ well enough to entertain his friends in addition to his own personal enjoyment.

The Hammond Chord Organ was a Christmas gift to Dr. Lawrence P. Matthews from his wife. She thought it would be an ideal source of relaxation for him, but now the whole family enjoys it in their home at Atlanta, Georgia.

PLAYING THE CHORD ORGAN GIVES DOCTORS A HEALTHY "ESCAPE" WORLD TO RELAX IN

Everyone knows the life of a doctor is a hectic one. The demands of the profession are tremendous, at times almost causing the nerves and physical stamina to near the breaking point. A doctor has to be prepared for an emergency at any time — and that means being prepared both physically and mentally.

After a very strenuous day it has been the experience of many doctors that the best way for them to unwind their nerves is to sit down at the Hammond Chord Organ and play a few selections. Their problems of the day seem to vanish, as they put themselves into the creation of music. Playing the Chord Organ for them is just a matter of substituting a pleasurable, relaxing experience for the problems that have occurred during the daily routine of a doctor's life.

Putting themselves into the creation of music in a sense is a healthy escape into another kind of world where there are no problems. Doctors find they need this healthy kind of "escape" world. There they can completely relax and rest so that they can better serve their patients with renewed vigor.

Dr. J. W. Young, Sr. of Sweetwater, Texas, is an example of a doctor who never could find time for anything like music during the 43 years of his practice. He was one of the busiest doctors of the "Horse and Buggy" era. He still maintains an active practice. But it wasn't until just a few years ago at the age of seventy or better that he took time out to enjoy music. He bought a Chord Organ. Soon he taught himself how to read music and play reasonably well. Now music is an important and almost indispensable part of his life. Even to the extent that he now entertains others. He missed the fun of music most of his life, but he didn't feel that it was too late to discover it.

Dr. Lawrence P. Matthews, of Atlanta, Georgia, is another doctor who relaxes by playing the Chord Organ. His wife gave him a Chord Organ for Christmas, but it turned out to be more of a family gift. Now all the family enjoys it, including their daughter in California who often listens in long distance.

Why not give Chord Organ Music for Christmas this year?

"COLE PORTER FOR HAMMOND CHORD ORGAN"

Here is a wonderful new folio containing twenty of Cole Porter's most famous melodies. Cole Porter's music is marvellously effective on the Chord Organ. In fact, in songs like "Rosalie," "In the Still of the Night," "So in Love," and "Wunderbar," you realize that the tonal resources of the Chord Organ can easily match those of the theater pit orchestra where the music originated. Included are twenty top hits from outstanding musical successes such as Kiss Me, Kate, Can-Can, Rosalie, Born to Dance, and others. Without a doubt, this folio further extends the musical possibilities of the Hammond Chord Organ and is one which we know all Chord Organ owners are going to enjoy immensely. Contents:

From Kiss Me, Kate:	I Concentrate on You
So in Love	From Out of This World:
Wunderbar	I Am Loved

NEW CHORD ORGAN MUSIC

"CHRISTMAS TIME FOR HAMMOND CHORD ORGAN"

Christmas Time for the Hammond Chord Organ is surely going to fill a big need this coming Christmas for a complete and carefully arranged folio of all the carols and Christmas chorales, as well as many copyrighted popular Christmas favorites such as "Tell Santy I Live in a Shanty," "Let's Have an Old Fashioned Christmas," "Merry Christmas to You!", and "Chestnuts Roasting on an Open Fire." While all 38 Selections have been freely arranged to take the fullest possible advantage of the Hammond Chord Organ's many tone colors, they, nevertheless, are scored in appropriate keys for vocal accompaniment. Some are scored as single note solos, others in duet style and some in full three and four note right hand chords. Christmas carols are wonderfully effective on the Chord Organ. Add to the spirit of your Christmas season by getting a copy of this album. Contents:

Chestnuts Roasting on an Open Fire (The Christmas Song)
 Angels, from the Realms of Glory
 Tell Santy I Live in a Shanty
 Let's Have an Old Fashioned Christmas
 A Merry American Christmas
 Merry Christmas to You
 Deck the Halls
 O Come All Ye Faithful
 As with Gladness Men of Old
 Hark! the Herald Angels Sing
 God Rest Ye Merry Gentlemen
 From Every Spire on Christmas Eve
 Lo, How a Rose E'er Blooming
 Once in Royal David's City
 Angels We Have Heard on High

 O Little Town of Bethlehem

Published by Edwin H. Morris & Co., Inc., 35 West 51st St., New York 19, New York. The price is $1.50. Order from your music dealer or direct from publisher.

INDIVIDUAL CURRENT HIT PARADE SONGS

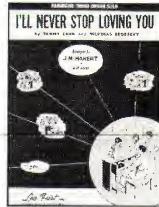

Of interest to all Hammond Chord Organ owners comes the news that two of the nation's top ten hit paraders are now available in special Hammond Chord Organ arrangement form. The two numbers are:

"Love Is a Many-Splendored Thing"

From the 20th Century Fox production, "Love Is a Many-Splendored Thing." Published by Miller Music Corp., 799 Seventh Ave., New York 19, N. Y. Price 50c. Order from your music dealer or direct from the publisher.

"I'll Never Stop Loving You"

Sung by Doris Day in the M-G-M picture "Love Me or Leave Me." Published by Leo Feist, Inc., 799 Seventh Ave., New York 19, N. Y. Price 50c. Order from your music dealer or direct from the publisher.

Each number is attractively arranged in concert style with a double chorus including words. The two choruses are scored in different styles and in different keys with a suitable modulating passage. We are sure that all Chord Organ owners will enjoy playing these two excellent show numbers in the style of the recording organist.

"SONG HITS FOR HAMMOND CHORD ORGAN"

Many owners have requested a Hammond Chord Organ arrangement of that splendid song, "Winter Wonderland." We are glad to announce that it is now available as a very effective Chord Organ solo (together with 25 other splendid selections—see September, 1955 "Chord Organ Comments" review) in the new folio, BVC Songs for the Hammond Chord Organ published by Bregman, Vocco, & Conn, Inc., 1619 Broadway, New York 19, N. Y. The price is $1.50. Order from your music dealer or directly from the publisher.
